DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action is in response to the amendment filed September 17, 2002.

Claim 9 is canceled.

Claims 1-8 and 10-12 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 1-4 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in Paper No. 7.

Drawings

3. The proposed drawing correction and/or the proposed substitute sheets of drawings, filed on September 17, 2002 have been approved. A proper drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The correction to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 5-7, 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hirabayashi (U.S. 5,614,445).

Hirabayashi teaches preparing a semiconductor substrate of a first conductivity type, forming scribe lanes in the semiconductor substrate to define chip formation areas, and forming a deep well area in each chip formation area (Fig. 1-4, 6-12, col. 4, lines 40-60). Hirabayashi discloses the deep well area having a second conductivity type opposite the first conductivity type, and forming at least one well area within the deep well area (col. 5, lines 10-25, col. 6, lines 5-25). Hirabayashi shows the first conductivity type being P-type and the second conductivity type being N-type (Fig. 3-4, 11-12). In addition, Hirabayashi teaches the use of the plasma processing (col. 4, lines 65-67). Hirabayashi teaches the scribe lanes containing only the semiconductor substrate (Fig. 1-2, col. 2, lines 60-67, col. 3, lines 1-5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hirabayashi (U.S. 5,614,445) in view of Kim et al. (U.S. 6,159,826).

Regarding claim 8, Hirabayashi does not specifically show the first conductivity type being N-type and the second conductivity type being P-type. However, Kim et al. shows the first conductivity type being N-type and the second conductivity type being P-type (col. 3, lines 30-35).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Hirabayashi's process by including Kim et al. teaching. The modification would provide a process that would be applied to N-type or P-type substrate.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed September 17, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Claims 5-8 and 10-12 stand rejected.

Applicant argued that Hirabayashi fails to disclose the scribe lanes containing only the semiconductor substrate. However, Hirabayashi teaches the scribe lanes containing only the semiconductor substrate (Fig. 1-2, col. 2, lines 60-67, col. 3, lines 1-5).

Furthermore, The transitional term "comprising", which is synonymous with "including," "containing," or "characterized by," is inclusive or open-ended and does not exclude additional, unrecited elements or method steps. See, e.g., Genentech, Inc. v. Chiron Corp., 112 F.3d 495, 501, 42 USPQ2d 1608, 1613 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

"Comprising" is a term of art used in claim language which means that the named elements are essential, but other elements may be added and still form a construct within the scope of the claim; Moleculon Research Corp. v. CBS, Inc., 793 F.2d 1261, 229 USPQ 805 (Fed. Cir. 1986); In re Baxter, 656 F.2d 679, 686, 210 USPQ 795, 803 (CCPA 1981).

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
